

Multi-Service Center – project

MONIPALVELUKESKUS

The goal in this project is to make a model from co-operation between city, village and companies and to develop services in a new way to village. Project tries to find cost-efficiency way to build up these services and spaces.

In common the target is to strengthen vitality in countryside and make better living conditions for villagers.

Reason for this project is that old school building needs anyway lots of repairing (if the city council decides to keep it up) and also the village club-house is in a bad condition. There is no decent gymnasium where to play for example volleyball. There is no common space for seniors and youngsters. Local companies needs room for occupational-health services. There is about 400 workplace in the village and about 350 inhabitant. Nearest city is 12 kilometers away. So it is reasonable to collect all these needs together and build up all services together.

Co-operators in this project are Alajärvi city, La Alucenter companies and Luoma-aho village association.
